NEWS FROM TRANSVAAL

Roberts Issues Proclamation which CANCELS HIS FORMER NOTICE.

Pass Blown Up With Dynamite. The Besieged Force Retiring.

PRETORIA, Aug. 27.—Gen. Roberts has issued a proclamation cancelling his previous order regarding oaths of neutrality and passes granted and all the burghers will be regarded as prisoners of war. Houses in which armed Boers find shelter will be liable to razing and farms used by the fighting burghers will be destroyed. Damage to railways will be punished by fines on land. The reasons for this action are the lack of appreciation shown by the Boers and their misuse of the leniency shown them, their taking advantage of it to continue their resistance to the British, and the continual breaking of the oath of neutrality, which the Government of the Transvaal, it is said here, has advised the burghers is not immoral.

Gen. Paget has blown up with dynamite the pass at Horne's Nek, ten miles from here. Yesterday he drove the Boers out of the surrounding district, killing four.

In the Corduroy yesterday Detective Gano gave testimony rebutting the statements concerning him made by the prisoner. He denied that he originated the plot, but admitted that it was his suggestion that Corduroy go to Silverton, by which act Corduroy broke his parole. The court asked the witness his nationality, and Gano replied that he was American. He was attached to the British police force here.

Gano's evidence was the last. Solicitor Berrange, in his address to the court, admitted that the prisoner was guilty, but he asked for mercy. He declared that the prisoner was the victim of a cunningly laid trap, which appealed especially to his eccentric mind. He having been assiduously inflamed by drink supplied by Gano. The solicitor thanked the court for the privilege allowed the defence. The counsel for the prosecution will address the court Monday.

Gen. Kitchener has relieved Col. Hoare, who was besieged by the Boers at Elands River. The besieged made a magnificent defence against the burghers, fighting from the cover of a ravine. There were fully fifty casualties, most of them being slight wounds.

Gen. DeWit has appeared north of Common Nek, twenty miles from here. He sent a flag of truce to Gen. Baden-Powell, demanding his surrender. This however, was only a plan to discover the strength of the British force.

Gen. Baden-Powell, seeing the use and hoping to detain Gen. De Wet, asked what terms would be given him if he surrendered. The messenger was equally sharp and, having learned the strength of the garrison, returned to Gen. De Wet, who at once resumed his march northward without the formality of sending his terms to the British. Gen. Baden-Powell is following him.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—General Roberts reports that Buller, French, Pole-Carew were all engaged with Boers Sunday English casualties over forty. The Boers are making a determined stand. The country is well suited for their tactics.

The war office has received the following from Roberts: "Boers beaten back by Bruce, Hamilton and Winburg. General Olivier was captured."

Boys and Powder.

Last Saturday afternoon Milton Thomas, the seven-year-old son of Mrs. Mollie Thomas, of Naco, who was playing with another youngster in the streets of that town. The boys managed to secure a quantity of gun powder, and at once proceeded to make a dangerous explosive by pouring the powder into a tomato can. Then the playmate applied a match while little Milton looked into the can to watch it go off. A loud explosion followed, and the child's face was severely burned. The flesh was exsicated by the powder with gravel and earth intermixed. The eyes were filled with gravel and dirt, but luckily the physicians pronounce the sight intact. Little Milton was in great agony and his mother and neighbors rushed to his aid. The boy was brought to Bisbee and Dr. Edmundson and Dr. Carlton at once attended to him. He was put under the influence of chloroform and his eyes cleansed from the irritating stones and earth that filled them. The little boy has been very patient and uncomplaining and a few days care and quiet will enable his mother to take him to their home at Naco.

Range horses have been raised 20 per cent in valuation, making their assessed value $20 per head; work horses, 13.5 per cent; saddle horses, 3.4 per cent, making them worth $20; mules have been raised 11.5 making them worth $25; sheep have been raised 3.1 per cent, making them worth $2; swine have been raised 12 per cent, making them worth $3. These raises in the valuation of live results in addition of over $7,000 to the tax roll of the county.

Find A Counterfeiter's Cave.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 27.—The gang of counterfeiters which has operated in southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana for the last three years was located through the arrest by Sheriff E. H. Ferguson of Clyde Churchill and Richard and Joseph Brant of Sodus, Mich. They were taken before United States Commissioner James O'Hara this afternoon and were held to the federal grand jury in Grand Rapids in October. Being unable to furnish $2,000 bail for each man they were lodged in the county jail.

Churchill confessed to the crime and implicated the Brant brothers as his partners. The mint, supplied with molds and other necessary tools, was discovered in a cave the main entrance of which was in an old woodshed near the Churchill home.

Creates Excitement.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—While President Loubet was on his way to the ceremonies at the Paris exposition yesterday a drunken water named Jacques Marabro broke through the line of cuirassiers surrounding the presidential carriage and approached its door. There was a moment of intense excitement, but the man only threw an envelope into the vehicle. It contained a picture of his niece. The man's action was simply the result of a drink deranged mind.

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 27.—The city has resumed its wonted quiet and the business houses have again opened up. Preparations have been made to resist any further attempts at rioting.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA

Boxers Driven From All Their Positions.

CHAFFEE'S REPORT EXPECTED.

General Situation in China. The Late Movements of Armies of the Allies.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—War department has not yet received from General Chaffee his report requested of him days ago in Peking.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—General Frey, commanding the French force at Peking, telegraphs this under date of August 26th:

"The allies have driven the Boxers from all points they occupied. Allies are camped outside the imperial palace."

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—In face of the vigorous protest of the consuls, particularly United States Consul General Goodnow, Vice Admiral Seymour has disembarked 2,500 Indian troops.

Admiral Seymour's action, undoubtedly the result of instructions received from England, is very likely to precipitate a war between the powers over what is considered inevitable—the partition of China. The complications are growing graver daily and a clash is expected as soon as Russian troops can be rushed to the scene.

The United States is also much interested and all the consuls are expectantly awaiting the result of England's action.

The French government is now landing 1,700 troops in the French settlement. A large force of French marines will land later.

To make the presence of the troops ashore appear indispensable the Hong Kong and Shanghai bank, the largest money institution in the east, controlled by English capital, appealed to Admiral Seymour for protection.

The Russian and German consuls are indignant at England's move, which they construe as a coup. As they have no troops here, they cannot checkmate the English.

A MISTLETOE RANCH.

Novel Enterprise of Two Georgia Young Women.

"I think we have about the first and only holly and mistletoe farm in the country, or in the world, for that matter." The speaker, says the New York Sun, was Miss Lucy Cartledge, the elder of two Georgia young women who three years ago began to raise holly and mistletoe for market. "It all started from my going to New York to study art. My mother, who is my only living parent, by many sacrifices finally saved enough money for me to make the venture. I did not achieve much in the way of art, but I learned what a big world of smart people this is and how much I had to improve before there was any chance of setting it aside with my brilliancy. Once convinced that I had little or no artistic ability, I set about to find some way to earn a living. The high price paid for holly and mistletoe in New York city was one of many revelations, and on inquiry I found that the prettiest places were brought over from England. This gave me an idea, and I wrote home about it to my sister, who is a very practical person.

"She began at once to go over our $500 acres and cleared away the underbrush around every holly tree and holly bush. In some instances with those around the house she had gone so far as to trim away all the dead limbs and have the earth about the roots enriched and spaded up. For the preservation of the mistletoe she cut off the muscadine and jessamine vines climbing over every tree where there was a sprig of it growing. She also declared her intention of trying to plant the seeds in the hollows and forks of old oaks, where she saw a chance of their taking root and growing.

"During the next summer we had little to do besides sit and wait for what the autumn would bring forth. But this energetic sister of mine was careful to see that no harm came to the numerous little holly trees which she discovered about the roots of the large trees. She stated that she intended to transplant them in winter and for the first time we realized it might not be such an easy matter to get a better farm as we anticipated.

Negroes are so superstitious that it is almost impossible for a white person to keep up with the numerous queer things they believe. When our old cook heard us talking about transplanting young holly she was horrified, and told us it was the worst kind of luck, and that whoever did it, the minute the bush grew and cast a shadow large enough to cover their grave they would die. We found the superstition quite general among the negroes, so, of course, we realized at once that none of them could be depended on to plant our holly grove. According to their advice the only way to obtain such trees was by placing a lot of berries on a stump near where we wished the tree and allow the wind to blow them. Only fancy what a stupid idea! Still it was most serious to us, as we were entirely dependent on them as laborers.

"However, our first harvest came before transplanting time. As soon as the berries were sufficiently grown to judge of we sent specimens on to several firms in Washington and New York. Almost by return mail we received surprisingly large orders, but at different prices. The best came from the Washington firm which supplies the white house. At Christmas we found two distinct grades of holly. Branches gathered from trees around the house, which had been trimmed and fertilized, were more beautiful than the others. The foliage was richer and the berries larger, more numerous and very much more brilliant. My sister fancied the same improvement was to be observed in the mistletoe, but we finally decided that the most beautiful specimens of this were taken from post-oak trees. And now, after three years' experience, we consider it a fact.

"Our profits for the first year were gratifying, and as soon as there was sufficient cold to send the sap down into the roots of the trees we began our transplanting. But do you know my sister and I were compelled to do it with our own hands. The negroes would dig the holes and put in the fertilizer, but when it came actually to planting the little trees we had to do that ourselves. We worked early and late during the months of January and February and managed to set out ten acres of holly. This past season we cut out every other one of these young trees and sold them as Christmas trees. They were well shaped, had fine foliage, with large rich berries, so of course they brought the very best prices. For our mistletoe we select old oak trees, preferably post-oaks, and insert well-ripened berries under the bark in the fork hollow, where they will have a chance to germinate and catch hold.

"This last season we added to our farm products by shipping quantities of bamboo and Christmas berry vines. In the north the bamboo is known as the southern smilax, and makes a charming decoration. We have no trouble in getting orders for our goods, and as our farm is on a trunk line railroad shipment is easy. We first began by crating; now we simply pack the trees and branches in the railroad cars and they go straight through to their destination."

TALL WOMEN COMPLAIN.

Manufacturers of Skirts Discriminate Against Them as Being Abnormalities.

There is much complaint among tall women this year that the manufacturers of the linen, crash and plique skirts which are sold ready made in all the stores as seasonable articles of apparel have taken no heed to the fact that many women are 'divinely tall.' All the skirts are suitable for women of average or small stature; there is nothing for the queenly form that towers several inches above mediocrity. If a woman wears a 44-inch skirt the manufacturers seem to imagine that she cannot have less than a 28-inch waist and arrange matters accordingly, to the bewilderment of the tall woman, who is often a slim than stout and whose waist is about 22 inches round.

The tall woman, says the Chicago Chronicle, is not considered as much by the makers of clothes as she should be, anyhow, she thinks. The maid whose skirt measure is over 40 inches, and there are many such, has great difficulty in being fitted in the shops; indeed, after she has looked over some dozens of garments and found not one long enough for her she begins to regard herself as a giantess who ought to be in a museum and not roaming at large, worrying perplexed saleswomen to death.

According to a critical manufacturer, it appears that no well-regulated woman should exceed five feet three in height; those who are so lost to self-respect and consideration for others as to do so must be placed among the abnormalities, and, worse still, hire a tailor to make even their cheapest gowns.

Wires Need Sunday's Rest. Manufacturers of wire as well as human beings are to have a day of rest. Manufacturers on Monday than on Saturday on account of their Sunday rest, and a rest of three weeks adds ten per cent. to the conductivity of a wire.

AN ALL NIGHT BATTLE

Between a Mob and the Owner of

A PRIVATE LYING-IN HOSPITAL

Two Deaths and Several Wounded. The Residence Burned Down.

GILMAN, Ill., Aug. 27.—Two men killed and three wounded, two perhaps fatally; one woman was wounded and her residence burned, was the result of an all night's battle between the mob and Mrs. Dr. C. W. Wright, accuser of the murder of Bessie Salter, the sixteen-year-old daughter of a citizen of Gilman. Mrs. Wright is fifty years old and conducts a lying-in hospital. The girl died there last Friday night at 10 o'clock. As a result of the coroners investigation, warrant was issued for Mrs. Wright's arrest. Possession went to the house at ten last night, the doors were barred. The Constable broke in, and a fight ensued with the above results. Mrs. Wright is a prisoner with a bullet hole in her shoulder.

SUN TOO HOT FOR UMBRELLA.

Ignites and Burns an Old Shade Carried by a Farmer.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Aug. 27.—The terrible heat that has oppressed this region for over three weeks culminated last week in a startling spectacle in Jefferson street, the business thoroughfare of the city. A farmer was riding on a load of flour when an umbrella he was holding over his head burst into flames and was consumed. The sight was witnessed by dozens of persons. It is thought the umbrella was an old one and might have had gasoline or some inflammable grease on it which the sun's rays ignited.

DISCREDIT REPORT

That War Has Been Formally Declared Against China.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—There is absolutely no truth in the dispatch from Che Foo, of August 24th, saying that it was rumored there "on good authority" that Russia, Germany and Japan had declared war on China, and had "invited Great Britain and the United States to retire from the country." Inquiries made at St. Petersburg, Berlin and Tokio show that the report was rejected as "unworthy of notice."
